Quebec and Dumbarton Oaks

While delegates to the world security conference at Dumbarton Oaks explore possibilities of international collaboration to follow World War II, President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their military advisers are arranging in Quebec to bring World War II to a close by defeating Japan.

Russia is not represented in the conference at Quebec. It is not at war with Japan. China, which declared war on Japan, Germany and Italy the day after Pearl Harbor, is not participating in the Quebec conference, either. Of the Big Four, one of those present, Great Britain, is in no position to make unlimited commitments for the final stages of the war in the Pacific, one is too busy to attend, one is unaccounted for and the fourth is apprehensive of doing the job alone.

The discrepancy between the discussions at Dumbarton Oaks and the proceedings at Quebec is uncomfortably wide. For present purposes, the war to subdue Japanese aggression is a direct challenge to the theory of international collaboration. It may be argued that the circumstances are not favorable to collaboration at this time, but in that event it must be admitted that the circumstances are in many ways typical of what might be expected in actual practice.

The situation is a sharp reminder of another thing—the fact that any organization for world security would have to be placed above all other existing arrangements, such as Russia's non-aggression pact with Japan, for example. It is taken for granted that momentous decisions will be made at Quebec, but it will be grimly obvious in the course of their making that talking about international collaboration is a lot easier than doing something about it.

Portent In Maine

The old wheeze that as Maine goes so goes the nation isn't taken seriously any more, but its fall from grace does not mean that vote statisticians ignore the first actual election results from Maine.

They have learned that the percentage of the Republican vote in Maine in September is a fairly reliable barometer, even though the net outcome is not. In brief, they have learned that when the Republican vote in Maine tends to fall below 65 percent of the total vote cast, it is a danger signal for the party's presidential chances.

In 1936, the Republican vote in Maine for governor, senator and members of the house of representatives failed to reach an average of 60 percent; Republicans won, but by less than 65 percent. In 1940, the percentage was slightly higher, and in 1942 it seemed to be holding its own, though the Republican vote in the state's first and second congressional districts dropped from 64 to 62 percent.

This year, on the basis of figures so far available, it looks as if the Republican vote for governor had soared well over 70 percent, with a Republican vote in the first congressional district of approximately 68 percent and similarly substantial margins in the state's other two districts. There was no senatorial election in Maine this year. It does not mean the nation is going Republican in November, but it means that the hard-headed men who keep track of voting statistics for the Roosevelt administration now have a pretty clear idea of what the fourth term is up against in terms of percentages.

Defeat Without Surrender

When United States troops broke the St. Nihil salient in September, 1918, and uprooted the Germans from a position they had clung to since 1914, Germany's generals already were in a mood for surrender. The offensive at St. Nihil was the last in a series of operations calculated to back up German forces against the Hindenburg line, counterpart in World War I of today's Westwall, already being penetrated by United States troops.

Marshal Foch then, like Gen. Eisenhower today, had determined to bring the war to a conclusion before the end of the year. But it was by no means clear in September, 1918, that the Allies could do it; Germany's military power was still apparently intact. Whatever the Allied high command may have known about conditions inside Germany, there were no obvious signs of disintegration at the front. Surrender, when it came, was sudden and complete, precipitated by collapse in the Balkans. Rather than fight out a war already lost, the German supreme command shrewdly asked for an armistice, thus ending the war where most of it had been fought—on French territory. It was surrender without defeat, as Adolf Hitler was to point out later. It was also Germany's way of evading the consequences of invasion.

Today, the situation has been reversed, and there is defeat without surrender. Germany's plight is militarily far worse than it was in 1918. There are signs of disintegration among its fighting forces. The Allies have reached German soil; they are confident of their ability to knock out Germany by the end of the year and to invade the country at many points. Again, the Balkans have collapsed. Unlike 1918, Russia is pressing Germany on an eastern front. German cities are at the mercy of Allied air power. Germany has been made impotent on the seas. Unwittingly, Adolf Hitler has made it certain that this time no doubt will linger in any German's mind about what happened. This time it is defeat.

IMPORTANT associations with strange, secret or obscure sources should move quietly ahead on this day, with intrigue, stratagem and undercover activities based upon foundations of the unusual, unique or singular relationships, both in business and private matters. This may be in connection with political, diplomatic or fraternal bodies where the results may be idealistic or illusory. A well-thought-out plan of action from such hidden sources may be lucrative.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of strange or curious adventures, in which the emotions, ideals, intuition and imagination play a part. This may be in connection with diplomatic, political, fraternal or group interests, in which tacit agreements or undercover procedures are most progressive. It is probable there may be trivial upsets or anxieties, but with a sensible use of exceptional gifts or faculties there may be exceptional benefits. But don't be carried away by erratic propensities or impractical "hunches."

Victory In the Second Blitz

By James Thrasher

Another story of resourcefulness and rugged courage has come out of London—the story of the victory of the second blitz. It is perhaps even more inspiring than the accounts of the first Battle of Britain. For here London's defenders were confronted with a new weapon, unpredictable, stealthy, speedy, unaffected by weather. It demanded new counter-measures.

The detailed story now tells how these counter-measures worked. And it reveals that even before Allied troops in France blocked off the robot coast, British brains and effort and American co-operation had already beaten the flying bomb.

There were 80 frightful days of the second blitz. But the passing weeks brought promise of victory. In the first month, defenders were able to bring down 40 per cent of the missiles. At the end, coast defenses were stopping 70 per cent of them, and inaccuracies reduced to 9 per cent the bombs that reached the target.

The toll in lives and property, though not so great as in the raids of 1940-41, was tremendous.

But if the attacks cost the Allies and London heavily, think of what the Germans paid for the attempt and the defeat. Frustrated in the beginning through superior intelligence and air power, they were unable to launch the flying bombs in time to achieve the maximum results.

But the most damaging result of the abortive vengeance was the fact that, having put all their eggs in one basket, they had to sit by and see the eggs smashed. Airplane and other production was cut back to make flying bombs. They were sold and oversold to the German people. But the physical and psychological punch was blocked. The "miracle weapon" wound up a dud. And Germany took a long step closer to defeat.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Food Cycle of Nature

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WHEN AND if the glorious day comes when we can get a brand new car it will be difficult to make a choice, or so I judge from some of the preliminary prophetic drawings and paintings of models which an enthusiastic car dealer showed me the other day.

"But still," I said, "you haven't got as good a machine as I have."

So he got huffy and wanted to know what I meant. So I told him about a machine that you poured fuel into three times a day and this kept it running, and oiled it, and repaired it when necessary and even gradually transformed it into next year's model.

Human Machine

He caught on that I was talking about the machine known as the human body.

He said it would be nice to have that kind of fuel. And I said—"Oh, that's easy." "What is it?" he asked. And I answered—"Grass—all flesh is grass."

The cycle of Nature which produces living organisms and the energy of living organisms, starts with the sunshine and the air. Plants use these and are even more wonderful machines than animals in that they can use such simple substances and turn them into structure and life. The best physiological chemists have been baffled in trying to turn carbon dioxide, water and sunlight into carbohydrate. They can make soda water and that's about all. They have it, it is true, by great effort succeeded in synthesizing more simple sugars, but at a cost of time, labor and money as to make them prohibitive. While the meaneast flower that blows does this trick of synthesis with an ease and abundance that puts the machinery of the wise to shame.

In the next step in the cycle of Nature this synthetic product of plants is taken into the animal body and turned into calories—into energy.

Needs of Body

The animal body, of course, needs something else for its nutrition—protein to build into flesh and this, too, the plant supplies, but not quite so surely or abundantly as it does carbohydrates. Besides carbon and oxygen the plant needs nitrogen for proteins. If one were inclined to carp at Nature one could point out that one of its major mistakes, if not its major mistake, was in not giving plants the power to take nitrogen out of the atmosphere, as they do carbon dioxide.

In order to build their proteins they must get the nitrogen from the soil. Some of the plants are very good at this—the legumes, and this is because of all living creatures only certain kinds of bacteria can remove nitrogen from the air and these bacteria inhabit nodules on the roots of the legume family. Leguminous plants so blessed—particularly soy beans—provide the most promising substitute for animal foods—meat, eggs and milk—now known.

The protein molecule is a huge loose structure made up of a number of amino acids. Our edible plants furnish us with most of the essential amino acids and the animal body synthesizes these into proteins of building blocks of the animal body. The building blocks are fairly easy to get from plants, but growth proteins are not so certain on a purely vegetable diet, and for that reason we obtain them in practice mostly from animal foods. The lactating glands of animals which produce food for the young—milk—and the reproductive glands which produce the germ of the young—eggs, naturally contain these growth elements and we use them.

Besides the energy and the protein plants extract from the soil the calcium, phosphorus, sulphur, iron and vitamins which we need.

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

Anyone who has ever had Pin-Worms knows how tormenting and embarrassing this affliction can be, and how hard it is to eliminate the ugly crawling creatures once they get a foothold inside the body.

Millions of people—rich and poor, children and grown-ups—have suffered in silence with the miseries of Pin-Worms, and doctors have tried for years to find a way to deal with this pest. Old-fashioned worm "cures" usually don't work on Pin-Worms.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery (a remarkable drug known as gentian violet), a new and highly effective treatment has been hailed by doctors. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it easy to deal with Pin-Worms. The small, convenient P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy the creatures. Don't take chances with Pin-Worms! Just ask your druggist for P-W, and be sure to follow the directions.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

by Faith Baldwin

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

When she went over to the salt-lake and not speaking, because she was so tired, she must have been first of all. If she doesn't think I am right for you . . .

Matthew stepped her on the salt-lake steps, turned her around, took her face in his hands and kissed her eyes and temples. He asked gently, "Darling, will you marry me soon?"

Matthew's mother had heard him come in, and was out of bed in a flash, for robe and slippers. Matthew burst into her room. He had switched on all the living-room lights and was outlined against them. He did not need to look for Mary saw his face, and she said, "Who cares?"

"I'll see you at breakfast."

"Not too late. I have to get back to town."

"Remember, must you?"

"Remember, you're marrying a doctor . . . in the spring."

Judith smiled, then the bend of the stairs hid her from him. He went out of the hall and closed the great front door. The air, before dawn, was fresh and sweet. He could have walked endlessly, watching the darkness pale and the gray sky lighten until the golden appears of sunlight come thrusting through of sunlight come thrusting through.

Matthew wanted to sing and shout. He wanted to talk to someone. He knocked on his mother's door and when she answered, went in. She had just fallen asleep and he had wakened her. It wasn't the first time.

Mary said, "So you're happy."

"I never knew what love was like before," he confessed.

"Of course."

He said ruefully, "You have Judith on your side."

"What do you mean?"

"She agrees with you that we should wait until spring. I don't see why," he added; "of course, I know it's conventional, but—"

"I understand, Matthew, but Judith's a member of a conventional family and yours is a conventional profession. People expect their physicians to—"

"What difference does it make?"

"None, I suppose. But, for Irene's sake—"

Matthew was silent a moment, then said, "Look . . . We were happy, Irene and I. We loved each other. She wouldn't object . . . she would be the first to—"

"Of course," Mary said a little wearily, "and it is maybe a hollow convention, if you want to look at it that way. But you're young, Matthew, and you can wait."

He looked down at her. "Okay, I suppose so. But it's silly, if you ask me."

You and Judith between you— he laughed unwillingly— "a pair of managing women. Good night."

"It's much nearer good morning," she reminded him.

At the door her son said casually, "I'll have breakfast with Judith."

"Fine," murmured Mary. "I can sleep." Then she thought, resignedly: Well, it begins. Once more the pattern of her life would be altered. In the spring she would readjust herself to living alone with Judith and Matthew would make their own home. Lynn will laugh, he's bound to say I planned this. Well, in the spring she would help Judith go house-hunting.

They were married, however, not in the far spring but in the near autumn, in October, with the trees flaming wine and gold, scarlet and mauve, brown and burgundy. They were married quietly in Ella's hotel suite, with no one present except Ella, propped up in bed on three pillows, Eva, Mary, and Lynn Mortimer.

For Ella's sins had found her out, and she was very much worse. She had returned to town in September and had proceeded to have two very acute attacks . . . and had said, when she was able to talk, following the second, "Matthew, I want you and Judith to be married . . . as soon as possible. I want to see you married."

Dr. Norman had said, nonsense, that she was an alarmist, but Ella had smiled at him. "You can't fool me," she'd scoff. "I'm worse and going to be no better fast. I didn't think you called in that battery of specialists for nothing. Look in my checkbook if you think it was for nothing!"

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster— Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WHEN a comic strip artist wants to suggest the birth of a new idea, he draws an electric bulb glowing above his hero's head. Since that symbol comes from our business, maybe we can borrow it to do a little enlightening of our own.

For example, there's the old idea that companies like ours are all owned by a few wealthy people in Wall Street. Actually this company is largely owned by the same people it serves—housewives, farmers, merchants, doctors, folks like yourself.

Our biggest security-holders are banks and insurance companies which have invested your savings here because they can count on sound business management—and because cheap, dependable electricity is so basic to the American way of living.

So whether you own us directly through stock, or indirectly through a savings bank or insurance company, you have a stake in this company. We welcome your ownership and your patronage. We try to be worthy of both.

tion has some new faces this season.

New Drum Major

A new head man, Tom Williams, Junior baton expert and member of the concert band, will direct the proceedings of the field with whistle and stick. He will be followed a few paces by three returning majorettes—Billy Finley, Barbara Lane and Jean Redinger plus two new assistants, Joy Chessman and Mary Lou Haessley.

All are Sophomores except Joy Chessman, who is a freshman. Loreta Coccia, another majorette, will be used as an alternate.

Use of the fluorescent lighting system employed here for the last three seasons will be restricted this year to about three games. Braugman said. Plans call for regular formations and drilling at the largely attended games—East Liverpool and Leetonia—and use of the lights at games when most of the crowd will be in the west bleachers.

Twenty-four new band members are numbered among the unit this season, a weighty training problem Brautigam says.

Latest reports from Sebring indicated that Director Pat Conway and his High school unit will not be at the game.

Expect Crop Losses In Sugar Shortage

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—A shortage of sugar will result in a total loss of $300,000 on the northern Ohio crop of 300,000 bushels of peaches, Ralph L. Berwick, northern Ohio district manager of the Packery, a national trade magazine covering the fruit and produce field, estimated today.

"There is a shortage of sugar around and about Ohio that has caused the market for peaches to go to hell," Berwick declared. "Peaches have declined $1 to $1.50 a bushel. Peaches are not moving even at these low prices."

"From central Ohio to the shore of Lake Erie consumers wait for this northern Ohio peach crop," he added. "They can't. But now there is no sugar and the peaches are rotting for lack of purchasers. Last year the peach crop was a failure because of too much rain. This year, with a good crop, the growers can't sell it."

Edward H. Beck, food rationing executive of the Office of Price Administration, declared OPA had not received any complaints of sugar shortages.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported from Washington yesterday that, barring unexpected wartime developments, housewives and civilian industry were expected to have all sugar to which their Gales swept the coastal area, exceeding 60 miles per hour at Morehead City, near the big U. S. Marine corps base at Cherry Point. Developments were obscured by lack of communications.

The weather bureau 9 a. m. advisory said center of the storm was somewhere in the vicinity of Cape Hatteras, and forecast it would continue north or northeastward about 25 miles per hour, possibly with increasing forward speed.

Winds of full hurricane force were expected today from Hatteras to the Virginia capes, reaching an excess of 60 miles an hour along the coast and 75 miles per hour off shore.

35 BODIES IN MINE REMOVED

Dig Tons of Coal From Bodies Remaining In Powhatan Pit

(By Associated Press)
Bellaire, O., Sept. 14.—Thirty-five bodies have been recovered from the Powhatan mine early today and rescue crews were digging away at tons of coal from which protruded arms and legs of others of the 66 who lost their lives when they were trapped by a fire July 5.

Marcus Kerr, chief of the Ohio Division of Mines, said it might be "some time" before more bodies would be removed because of the tremendous amount of roof fall which had toppled down on the dead men in the more than two months since they sealed themselves in the mine.

"The position in which the bodies were found," Kerr said, "shows that the men died peacefully and without pain or panic."

Some were in a sitting position, others lying prone on the ground as if they had fallen asleep. One man was found on hands and knees—rescue workers determined that he had knelt in prayer, and had fallen forward when the lethal carbon monoxide gas sifted into the chamber.

Officials identified some of the bodies carried out last night as Virgil Preston, Glencoe; Wilson McFades, Bellaire; Charles Stevens, Bellaire; William Hawley, Clarington; John Yoblonski, Glencoe; Wilson Brown, Powhatan; Boyd Taylor Clarington; George Emory, Powhatan; Dwight Mellett, Glencoe; Edward Fletcher, Cameron; Russell Caldwell, Jacksonburg and Jacob Bellville, Powhatan.

Only close relatives, mine officials and morticians crowded around the little morgue 15 yards from the rescue entrance, as the bodies were brought out for identification. The morgue was built about a month ago when all hope of finding the men alive had vanished.

Rescue crews were cracking under the strain of hauling out the bodies, and two members of the 17-man crew—which had dwindled to nine at midnight as some became nauseated and had to be sent home—had to be carried out on stretchers after they had fainted, Kerr reported.

Kerr said the teams now in the mine were laboring under "great difficulties." He said there was only headroom of four and one-half feet, and that men had to work in a crouched position.

HILLMAN APPEALS FOR LABOR'S VOTE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 14.—Urging greater participation by labor in election campaigns, Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee, declared here today that "there is only one way to get what you want, and that is to work for it—day and night, from now until Nov. 7."

"In many states you can be the decisive factor in the election," he told delegates to the United Automobile Workers (CIO) national convention. "If you do the same kind of job in political action that you have done in war production, victory is sure."

The real fight for freedom will just be beginning when a military victory in the war is won, Hillman said in a prepared speech. "The fight for freedom does not end with the surrender of Germany and Japan. It begins there."

Social progress in this country came to a full stop during the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations, Hillman said, adding that the federal government "assumed no responsibility for employment, working conditions, unemployment insurance and the general welfare of the population."

"Today," he continued, "the Republicans can no longer challenge these social gains on the grounds of constitutionality. Instead they seek to undermine them under the slogan of 'protecting states rights.'"

On the subject of reconversion of industry to peacetime production, Hillman said "if we are to believe the Republican platform, the old guard proposes, before turning over the problem to business leadership, to do a thoroughgoing job of creating anarchy and disorder."

A Republican-controlled foreign policy would mean "once more trying to flood the world with our goods while at the same time denying to the world the means of paying for them," the PAC chairman asserted.

COON DOG TRIALS PLANNED OCT. 22
LISBON, Sept. 14.—The County Fish and Game Protective association at its monthly meeting in the court house made final plans for its annual fall coon dog trials to be held at Guilford lake, Whinnery's grove, Sunday, Oct. 22.

C. J. Lock of Salineville was appointed chairman of the trials with Lon Boring and County Commissioner Clarence Robinson of Lisbon, Ralph Wang, North Georgetown, Willis Martin, Millport, and Ed Herron of Salem appointed to assist him.

The trials this year are expected to be the largest in the club's history with over 200 dogs being entered.

Eden Will Join In Quebec Conference
LONDON, Sept. 14.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to arrive in Quebec almost immediately to participate in the talks between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and their chiefs of staff, it was made known today.

The decision to have Eden join the conference apparently was a sudden one, for only yesterday it was stated officially that he had "no present intention" of going.

WEATHER IS IDEAL AS CROWDS ATTEND 99TH COUNTY FAIR

LISBON, Sept. 14.—Ideal fair weather was provided yesterday for the 99th annual Columbiana county fair now in full swing at the Lisbon fairgrounds.

The crowd began arriving as soon as the gates swung open at 7:30 and by mid-afternoon had swelled into what looked like an out-time fair crowd. The same pattern was being followed today with a large crowd already on the grounds at 9:30 for the horse pulling contest which was held at 9:45.

In the contests yesterday first money in the horse pulling was the team entered by Wilbert Jones of Lexington whose team pulled a sled loaded with pig iron weighing 7,800 pounds a distance of 7 feet, 7 inches.

Second place went to H. W. Walker of R. D. 4, Lisbon, third to Lewis Ward, Sherrodsville, fourth, Harry Dillon, Lisbon, and fifth, Hugh Ferguson, Salineville.

Today's contest was for teams over 3,000 pounds.

East Palestine school band and the Fairmount Children's home band played during the day. The night fair started with a livestock parade at 7, followed by an exhibition by Bob Steele and his trained horses. After that there was an aerial performance on the high pole in front of the grandstand and the fair closed at 10 o'clock with a fireworks display.

Today the Lisbon High School and New Waterford bands were furnishing the music and races were scheduled for 1:30 p. m. The night fair program will be the same as last night.

G. O. P. RESTORED PEOPLE'S FAITH, HERBERT CLAIMS

One-Day Convention On After State Headquarters Is Opened

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, keynoting the Republican state convention, declared today Ohio Republicans had restored the people's faith in their state government after the Democrats "indulged in a shameless orgy of corruption."

Comparing the present Republican administration with its predecessor, the lieutenant governor added in an advance text released by Republican state headquarters: "Now, we have decency and honesty in government. Then, Ohio was heavily in debt; now, she does not owe a penny and has a surplus of nearly one hundred million dollars. Then, Ohio's school system was shaken with doubt and fear; now, confident and secure, it faces the future ready to prepare our youth for leadership so essential to the people's government."

Herbert opened the biennial platform convention before approximately 2,000 delegates and alternates hoping to stretch their control of the state government from six years to eight. On the program with Herbert, who unsuccessfully sought the nomination for governor, were Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert and Albert E. Payne, Springfield manufacturer, both of whom also ran fruitfully for the nomination.

Herbert declared that before the Republicans took office in 1939 "a vain, futile administration attempted to solve the problems of the Roosevelt depression."

He challenged the cry of "bores" raised by the Democrats, who contend that Gubernatorial Nominee Stewart is influenced by Ed D. Schorr, Republican state chairman.

"Every member of our party organization," he asserted, "holds his office pursuant to the law of Ohio."

In contrast, Herbert declared, Democratic Candidate Lausche was "selected by the New Deal bureaucrats at Washington."

"In Ohio," he inquired, "to bend the knee to the Hagues, the Kellogs, the Crumms, the Hillmans? To the collaborators and disciples of Communism?—to the shadowy figures of ex-convicts that now loom so ominously in the councils of the New Deal?"

He said the Republican party had kept its pledge of no new taxes and the legislature had provided for a substantial reduction next year; that unemployment insurance benefits had been increased, and that an extensive soil conservation program had been set up.

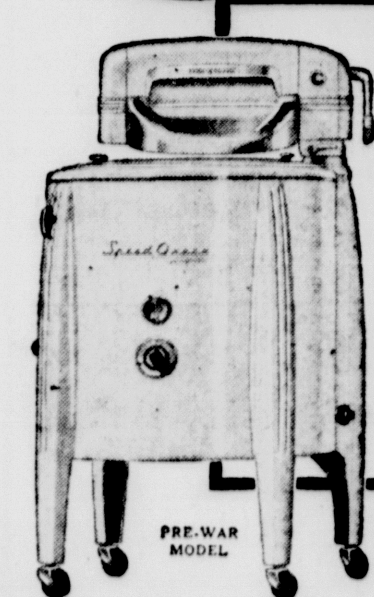

A Herbert spoke, the platform committee was putting together a platform of 2,000 words. It will be adopted in the convention's closing session tonight after the delegates hear Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican nominee for vice president; U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, who seeks re-election, and Mayor Stewart.

FATHER KILLS TWO CHILDREN AND SELF

XENIA, Sept. 14.—A neighbor stopping to take him to work at Patterson field this morning found Claude Leak, 57, dying and his two children, Emily, 14, and John, 12, dead of bullet wounds in their home at Osborn View.

Coroner H. C. Schick gave a verdict of murder and suicide. He said the neighbor, a man named Deam, found Leak's insurance policy on the front door, together with a note saying, "I hated to do this, but I think it was the best thing for the children."

He went inside and found the children's bodies and Leak unconscious. Dr. Shick said Leak's wife died last June. He had worked as a hydraulic machine operator at Patterson field since April, 1941.

Nazi Fliers Strafe Chow Lines? Not This One

As protection against strafing by the Luftwaffe, this chow line at a U. S. Army Ninth Air Force base in France forms in a trench and gets its food from an underground kitchen. Strafing chow lines is a favorite trick of the Nazi fliers. Official U. S. Army Forces photo. (International Soundphoto.)

Dewey Not Expected To Visit At Camps

(By Associated Press)
ENROUTE WITH DEWEY, Sept. 14.—A strong Republican bid for the service vote apparently is in the offing but unless Gov. Thomas E. Dewey changes his plans, he probably will not visit any army or navy installations for direct appeals.

Dewey, who made a round of army camps for the USO in 1941, has indicated that he does not expect to address troops, except in short wave broadcasts of his major addresses which the War Department has promised to beam overseas.

But he has shown sharp interest in the possible reaction of men in uniform to his attacks on the New Deal.

Before he left Valentine, Neb., yesterday enroute to conferences with Sheridan, Wyo., Republican leaders today, the GOP nominee heard a prediction by Pfc. John C. Miller of Pittsburgh that the service vote would be closely divided.

Miller, who is 24 and never has had an opportunity to vote in a presidential election, walked up to Dewey during a radio at the Valentine fairgrounds and started a conversation.

The governor chatted animatedly with him and Miller later said he had told Dewey he believed the governor would fare as well with servicemen in votes as he will with civilians.

“My neighbor on the next street had a telephone installed. Why did he get one before me?”

This may happen for any one of several reasons.

First: Your neighbor's telephone service may be essential to the war effort or to public health, welfare and security. Such service has first call on the few facilities available in your community.

Second: There may be spare cable conductors to the central office and wires at his home. But in your street, all facilities may be in use.

Third: He may be moving service from his former home. Where lines are available, these orders take precedence over applications for new service.

Fourth: His request for service may have been placed with us before yours.

We cannot tell you when your service will be installed. In many cases, it may be some time after final Victory. But we can assure you that your request will be treated fairly.

Your application will not be filed away and forgotten. Constant check is kept on facilities available. Your service will be installed in its proper turn.

Bringing Up Baby In The Right Way

JOHNNY will need less help as he learns more and more for himself. He won't need to have you tell him what to do, he'll know on his own.

You can't expect this to happen overnight. He builds it up slowly, out of little things—feeding himself, working at the buckles on his galoshes, choosing what toys he will take out to play. These are the beginnings.

Give him the chance to make choices, not all at once, but in places that he can really understand. In crossing the street, for example, put your hand on his shoulder and let him decide (with you) when it is safe to cross.

Let him take responsibility gradually. Caring for his toys can become his job (with a little help) if he has a special place for them, but you mustn't mind what the box or shelf looks like when he has finished. Don't expect him to stop what he is doing the minute you tell him to. Give him time to end his play and he will be more ready to clear up the things.

When he learns to tell time, he can begin to know for himself when to come in from play. But don't count on this too soon. When he is absorbed in digging a ditch or building a fort, time isn't important.

The more he can do without your help the better. But be sure to stand by to help at those moments when he needs you.

Household Hints

Keep your iron temperature very low for rayons or it will crinkle them and cause a hole.

Iron first those parts of a garment that will hang off the board while the rest is being ironed.

Always iron in the direction of either lengthwise or crosswise threads.

Plain tailored slips give better wear than those trimmed with lace.

Hose need frequent washing as the acid in perspiration will weaken them.

A good fatigue cure is a hot bath and a rest in bed with the feet up and head down for 20 minutes.

It is best when ironing blouses and shirts to iron cuffs and sleeves first, then the collar, then from one side of the front around to the other side.

On varnish or shellac, water leaves white stains so that if any is spilled on the floor, wipe it up immediately.

Lamb is best when pink with creamy or pinkish fat.

A tart punch is more thirst quenching than sweet.

Blondes should avoid vinegar rinses which will darken hair.

When washing the face, use a soft brush to scrub the hair line at the forehead.

X-Ray Single Grains Of Powder Used For Rocket Propulsion

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Editor

NEW YORK—Women working in shifts around the clock, are X-raying, separately, each single grain of rocket powder made at the Sunflower Ordnance Works, near Lawrence, Kas., operated by the Hercules Powder Co.

For rocket propulsion, it is declared in a report approved by the War department, every grain has to be perfect. Otherwise there would be uneven burning of the powder, and risk of premature explosions.

Taking a picture of each grain is something unique. The size of the grains, however, is kept as a military secret.

The women take each grain and place an identifying mark on it. Then the grain is placed on a photographic film, and the film is moved into a lead box, in which X-rays shine through the film and powder grain.

This picture taking requires ten minutes from a start to developed print of each grain. The X-rays reveal any imperfections in the powder.

New Liquor Rationing Period Is Four Weeks

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—Ohioans gained another reduction in their liquor ration period today. The new period, starting Monday, will be shortened from five to four weeks, running through Oct. 14. The amount that may be purchased remains at one-fifth, one quart or two pints of whiskey or domestic gin.

Assistant Liquor Director Ferd Bing, in making the announcement, declined to say whether the latest reduction was a retinue forerunner of abandonment of all liquor rationing restrictions.

Brothers Carry Out Body of Kin, Hero In Ohio Mine Disaster

By IRWIN A. FLUHARTY

BELLAIRE, Sept. 14.—Two veteran miners trudged into the workings of Powhatan mine late yesterday, sought out a lone lifeless form sitting at the back of the No. 3 room, lifted him to a stretcher and carried him out of the mine.

They deposited their burden on the floor of a temporary morgue, locked at the face discolored by death and shed tear unashamed. Joe Emery, 30, and Walter Emery, 37, both of Powhatan, had brought their brother George, 42, back to the sunshine he loved.

George Emery probably will be the hero of the July 5 disaster which claimed his life and the lives of 66 fellow workers.

When fire was discovered in the mine, George was within reach of safety. He could have escaped, mine officials agreed, but knowing his buddies were back behind the wall of flame, and knowing that he had a slim chance to lead them to safety, he telephoned back to the mine mouth: "I'm going back to help the boys."

Two years ago Emery, a mechanical foreman, said: "I will devote the rest of my life to studying how to save men from gas when they are trapped underground."

He worked incessantly and had achieved fame, locally at least, for his ideas on safety.

Rescue workers found him sitting, his back to a pillar of coal, and his arms folded.

Around him were bodies of the men he sought to save—at the cost of his own life.

locomotive and it took several hours to extricate it.

WAC Among Victims

Army authorities and Coroner D. M. Ferguson said they could not say how many of the dead were soldiers, but a check of funeral homes disclosed they had bodies of 21 soldiers, one member of the Women's Army corps, one civilian and three persons whose status could not be determined.

The army refused to release a full list of the soldier dead and injured until the next of kin has been notified, but told newsmen that 39 soldiers—the same number as was riding in the demolished first car—were either dead or injured.

Eyewitnesses said the scene of the wreck was one of confusion and horror. Heavy fog hung close to the ground and it was difficult for rescuers, carrying flares, to locate the cries of some of the injured.

The crocodile is distinguished from the alligator by two teeth protruding when the jaws are closed.

TENGCHUNG AGAIN IN CHINESE HANDS

(By Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Sept. 14.—The Chinese high command announced today the recapturing of Tengchung from the Japanese, saying this "marks another high point in the effort to clear the area west of the Salween river and removes another obstacle to reopening of the Burma road."

The fall of the city, held by the Japanese for more than two years and once their Yunnan province headquarters, was significant gain in the first real Chinese offensive in more than seven years of war.

Clearing of Tengchung goes far toward accomplishing the purpose of the offensive—to reopen the Burma road in China, join with Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's forces in northern Burma and open the land supply route to blockaded China.

Tengchung lies 35 miles from the Burma border and 65 miles west of the Salween river bridge.

The Chinese troops, commanded by Marshal Wei Lin-Muang, were trained and equipped by an American Y-force under Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn.

ROTGEN TAKEN

Aachen, a northern keystone of the Siegfried line. Field dispatches reported the Germans might be falling back for a major stand on the Rhine—some 40 miles to the east in this sector. This suggested that the Germans were making another trade of space for time.

A Berlin broadcast this morning said a terrific aerial bombardment in the Metz area had touched off a new American offensive. There was no immediate official comment here, but field dispatches said American shellfire in that sector had drawn no reaction.

The Paris radio said without official confirmation that the American column which two days ago captured Rotgen, three and one-half miles inside Germany, and eight miles south of Aachen, plunged on beyond Lammersdorf, five miles from the border.

The Americans drew up to the German border near Clervaux at the northern tip of Luxembourg in widening their wedge northeast of the capital of the Little Duchy from which they first drove five miles into Germany northwest of Trier.

At the southern tip of Luxembourg Associated Press War Correspondent Edward D. Ball reported that U. S. Third army guns were shelling the Siegfried line across the River Our. He said two hamlets were set afire and German barracks riddled without drawing a single round of German return fire.

The print department of the Art Institute of Chicago contains over 15,000 drawings and rare etchings.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

to put up a stiff final battle after shortening his fronts and concentrating his terribly depleted manpower.

While there's vast encouragement in the news that the Allies have reached German soil, and even have cracked the outer defense of the westwall (or Siegfried line) at one or two points, we aren't entitled to reach sweeping conclusions from this. The Nazis won't try to defend all points of the frontier, and it must be remembered that the west wall isn't a wall at all.

The westwall isn't a solid line of fortifications, as its name suggests. The French Maginot line does have a barrier of concrete and steel forts, but while the westwall has many fortifications it comprises a maze of defenses of many sorts arranged in great depth. The line varies from 10 to 30 miles in width. It's so constructed that great fire-power can be concentrated on any given point from several directions, and the general idea is to let enemy troops get well into the midst of these fortifications and then slaughter them with intense gunfire. So capture of an outpost of the westwall doesn't necessarily indicate a quick breakthrough.

One of the greatest threats to the morale of the German population is the terrific bombing. Yesterday, for example, between 5,000 and 6,000 Allied planes dumped 10,000 tons of bombs into the Reich between the border and Berlin—after Gen. Eisenhower had given fair warning that heavy bombing was coming.

Protest Prisoners' Liberty In Streets

FOSTORIA, Sept. 14.—Contending that German prisoners of war sent from Camp Perry to work in Fostoria plants have been permitted to wander about the streets, the Earl Frost post of the American Legion announced last night it had forwarded a protest to the commanding officer at Camp Perry.

It is stated the Legion post declared one prisoner was seen entering a home near a factory where he was assigned to work.

The Camp Perry public relations office reported the protest had not been received up to last night and gave this version of a recent incident in Fostoria.

"One German prisoner of war was permitted by a guard to wander from a work detail and inquired at several homes for a newspaper and the time of day."

"Upon learning the time, the prisoner voluntarily returned to his work detail. Disciplinary action already has been taken against the American soldier for neglect of duty."

Stage Set, Teams Picked For Salem-Sebring Football Clash

Locals To Be Outweighed In Opener But Have Edge On Power And Experience

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUPS

	Salem	Sebring
LE	Walter Brian	Tony Dawson
LT	Louis Janiano	George Barnett
LG	Jim Appedisan	Ed Eubank
C	George Vavrek	Tom Cartwright
RG	John Pledge	Wendell Moore
RT	John Mulford	Ed Brannin
RE	Tom Bush	Mike Michaels
Q	Jay Leach	Dick Brannin
LH	Francis Lanney	Rud Gillis
RB	Ray Kelly	Tom Kirksey
FB	Charles Franks

A heavy speed and one of the strongest Sebring teams produced in years is booked to open the 1944 football season at Reilly stadium at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow against Coach Ben Barrett's second edition of Salem High school Quakers.

The outcome of that contest will give local fans some idea of just what these new Barrett youngsters have to offer this year. With football interest at a higher peak this season than it has been for years and seven home games offered gas-starved fans, Salem is prepping for a successful season.

The comparisons available on the two outfits as pre-season judgments go—more authoritative than usual—can be offered before either squad has met an opponent. It so happens this season that both Salem and Sebring have undergone practice sessions against the same team, Alliance, and a good guess of the outcome can be measured on that basis.

Sebring met Alliance twice in exhibition practice sessions. The first time the Aviators dropped the Trojans, coached this season by George Stanford, Jr., 20-6, but the game wasn't as lopsided as the score might indicate. Sebring had one score called back and was on the dangerous Alliance markers when the session ended.

The second contest between the pair was a little closer, with Sebring leading most of the way before finally being nosed out, 26-19. The comparison becomes possible when you figure that Salem in meeting Alliance pulled up a 12-0 win in a regular half-time period. In that half the two first strings met and battled for regulation quarters. Salem had a definite edge, 18-6, in yards gained from rushing and passing and out-firsted downed the Aviators 8 to 0.

This comparison would seem to give the locals an edge in the game tomorrow. Comparisons of weights Sebring has a considerable edge over Salem.

With a line averaging 172 pounds and a backfield at 162 pounds, Sebring is considerably larger than the Salem crew, which averages 167 pounds on the line and just 155 in the back carrying department.

On the letterman back—always important to Salem—has a big push over the inexperienced Trojans. Coach Barrett will have eight letter winners in his starting lineup as compared to five for Sebring. Only one of the Trojan letter winners was a regular last season while six of Barrett's changes were starters in 1943.

Barrett's main difficulty this year has been to find a pair of reliable ends for regular work on the right post and relief roles on the left. The Salem coach is starting Tom Bush, 160 pound senior, in the right hand job tomorrow, but several other likely candidates will probably see a lot of action during the game.

From Dick Gottefaling, Fred Kenst, Fred Bruner, Don Chappell, Bill Stouder and Lowell Hoppe, the local mentor hopes to develop what he needs in those important end assignments. Brian and Lanney, regular ends last year, may not be counted on because Lanney has been shifted to the backfield and Brian is troubled with an injury. Barrett plans to start Brian this week but will probably insert some others for experience and trials of the occasion arises.

The backfield, one of the heaviest in some time here, is well set for replacements as a second spring group of backs. Bob Boone and Norm Smith at halves, Danny Smith at quarter and Tom Paparodis at fullback, look as nearly interchangeable with the starters.

John Mulford, a junior and veteran center, has been shifted to a tackle post and will be starting his first game in that position. Other likely tackle prospects include Fred Koenreich, Fred Kornbau, Jack Crawford and Chet Lucas. Fred Bruner had been tried out in that spot but has been working at end lately. Leonard Sobek, 180 junior, also had a try at tackle for a while but will probably get some assignments after he gets over his first season "greenness."

The reliable pair of guards from last year, John Pledge and Jim Appedisan, will be of immense value in that Quaker forward wall. Both are short, powerful and experienced and can execute tackles and blocks which are the envy of the rest of the line. Appedisan, considerably heavier this year—170—has it over on Pledge or size, but the two still look like wins in football battles. Junior, George Vavrek, 145 pound junior, has taken over the center spot with success and will be getting his first starting assignment tomorrow. A tall, lanky powerhouse, Vavrek has

JUNIOR LOOP HOPE IN WORLD SERIES RISING REGULARLY

Idle Americans Sit and Look On With Joy As Cardinals Slip

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
American League world series stock gained a few points today as the four idle contenders, with nothing else to do but wait for the schedule and sunshine to catch up with them, analyzed the fate of the St. Louis Cardinals who had lost their first season series since 1940 and dropped 11 of their last 15 games.

Pittsburgh became the first club in four years to beat the Cards over a season's play when they swept another doubleheader last night, 7-3 and 10-5, for a 12-0 edge in games. The Red Birds haven't beaten the Cardinals in their last 10 meetings, a tie being their best effort. Frankie Frisch has had the Pirates rolling in high gear at a .763 clip since Aug. 3 and at the 600 season mark for the first time as the Cards dipped below .500.

The National League leaders were having pitcher trouble with Harry Brecheen failing to go to the route in the opener and Max Lanier suffering his fifth successive defeat in the second. Rip Sewell and Xavier Brachio took credit for the Pitt wins despite the Cardinal homers by Johnny Hopp and one each by Ray Sanders and Ken O'Dea. Johnny Barrett and Babe Dahlgren hit for the circuit for the Pirates.

Rainy weather in Philadelphia robbed the American league of its only scheduled action, pushing back tonight an owl tilt between the leading Yankees and the Athletics. Once again, idle Detroit, a half game back, had a chance to move in front by .008 if New York should lose.

Chicago clung to fourth place in the National by downing Cincinnati, 3-2, in the second game of a doubleheader, after dropping the opener, 4-1. Philadelphia at New York and Boston at Brooklyn doubleheaders were rained out.

SALEM GOLF CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY GENE SOMMERS

Wins Class A Finals By Defeating Nat Walken 7 and 6 Wednesday

Gene Sommers is the new club champion at the Salem golf course by virtue of his 7 and 6 victory over Nat Walken in the Class A finals completed Wednesday afternoon.

In the first 18 holes played last Saturday, Sommers carded 81 and was two up on Walken who scored 83. He won the next three holes with three fours against Walken's three fives and the championship was decided.

Sommers reached the finals by defeating Bob Hiltbrand 3 and 2 and Dr. R. T. Holbach 7 and 5. He then eliminated Rudy Schuster, last year's champion, 1 up in the semi-final event.

Walken had eliminated Nate Hunt 2 and 1, Walt Deming 4 and 3 and Gus Schuster 1 up to reach the finals.

Mike Miller won Class C honors by defeating Arch Harwood 2 and 1 in the 18-hole finals. Miller scored 94 and Harwood 96. Miller had defeated August Springer 4 and 3, Cecil Chessman 4 and 2 and G. R. Deming by default. Harwood eliminated E. C. Hammel, Wink Miller and Gordon Keys 1 up in each event.

Class B honors are yet to be determined. Al Moser has reached the finals and will meet the winner of the semi-finals between Jim Britt and Ned Massa.

Class A included all golfers up to 11 handicap. Class B 12 to 18 handicap inclusive, and Class C all over 18 handicap. The tournament was played at scratch.

NEW YORK—Col. E. R. Bradley, whose horses have won four Kentucky Derbies, says New York racetracks have changed since muted betting. "Betting on your horse in the machines, brings the price down," says the 84-year-old Kentuckian who still gets a thrill out of the sport.

CLEVELAND—Pat Seery, husky Cleveland Indian outfielder, may be converted into a catcher when the club officials get around to its long range rebuilding program.

Boosters' Club Innovation Will Be Held at 8 P. M. In Memorial Bldg.

Salem's first football team "Parent's Night"—an innovation this year by the Salem Boosters' club—will be held at 8 tonight at the Memorial building.

Called to give parents, coaches and team a chance to get together for a general all-around football chat, the meeting will feature talks by Coaches Ben Barrett, Frank Tarr and Robert J. Miller. Joe Kelley, president of the Boosters and assistant to Barrett, also will speak.

Along with the other proceedings, Barrett is expected to outline thoroughly for the parents and players a strict training schedule and explain just why these rules and regulations are needed.

An exhibition of a complete set of football tags will be shown, to give parents a first hand glimpse of the equipment used to protect their sons while training for High school football.

Boosters plan refreshments after the meeting for all guests and Joe Kelley said today that new Boosters members are especially urged to attend and get an idea of the activities of the organization. The club is at present conducting its 1944-45 membership drive and many new members have been signed this season.

Following a procedure outlined here last season by Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State, the Boosters last week decided to sponsor this initial parent-team and coaches' session to stimulate interest in the progress of Salem's football team.

Many other district schools hold such meetings yearly. East Liverpool is in its second year of similar affairs and Massillon has held them for more than 10 years.

PHILADELPHIA—Connie Mack's scorecard serves a dual purpose. While the 81-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics is famous for waving his scorecard to place fielders in position, Connie also uses it to keep score.

CLEVELAND—Pat Seery, husky Cleveland Indian outfielder, may be converted into a catcher when the club officials get around to its long range rebuilding program.

Youngster, Minus Left Arm, Finds His Idol In Minors

MEMPHIS, Sept. 14.—"Hit me a home run," begged three-year-old Nelson Gary, Jr., just before his ball playing hero, one-armed Pete Gray, took the field for Memphis in the Southern association playoff last night. "I'll do my best, fellow," promised the lean Pennsylvanian. And Pete didn't disappoint his little one-armed worshipper from Los Angeles.

Two Golf Champions Fall In Exhibition

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 14.—Golf's two hottest performers, Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, were beaten, 2 and 1, by Ky Laffoon of Chicago and George Schneider of Salt Lake City in an exhibition yesterday. Schneider collected birdies on the second and third holes and went on to finish with a 68, three under par. McSpaden shot 70, Nelson 71 and Laffoon 74.

He didn't get the homer, but he lashed out five hits—a triple, double and three singles—to lead his mates to a 7 to 6 twelve-inning triumph over Nashville.

It was a big night for Gray—but a bigger night for young Gary, parked behind the dugout in his miniature Memphis uniform and with mom and pop flanking him.

Every time Gray went to the bat rack, the childish voice of tiny Nelson was at his ear, pleading for a blow from the left arm of the slender outfielder.

And every time Gray banged the ball, Gary—his right sleeve empty and flapping—jumped and yelled until he almost fell out from sheer exhaustion.

"He's completely worn out," said his father after the game, smugly grinning the weary youngster in his arms. "It's been the greatest day of his life."

"He's sure a swell kid," commented Gray after the game. Young Gary lost his arm in an accident a year ago. His father, a baseball fan, wanted to give him an objective in life.

Gray became Nelson's idol. When he asked to see Gray in action, the commercial appeal started a fund. It was quickly oversubscribed and Nelson made the 1,800-mile trip.

Storm Releases Honey

GREELEY, Colo.—Sweet-toothed Greeley children had a field day following a recent tornado which struck the city. Two trees were demolished and one of them contained a beehive. Little time was lost by the youngsters in gathering the honey.

NEW YORK—Yale and Pennsylvania are two of the few college football teams that will not travel this season. Both schools will play eight-game schedules on their home grids.

By HAL PEARY
The Great Gildersleeve

My greatest thrill in sports came some time between the hours of 1 and 2 a. m., Sept. 4, 1926, in a room at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in Philadelphia.

From a drenched Sequen-tial stadium, an ex-heavyweight champion, battered almost beyond recognition, slowly entered the room. He was not alone as so often happens when a champion has lost his crown. A lovely woman clasped him gently in her arms, lightly touching his swollen face with her fingertips.

"What happened, Gildersleeve?" Estelle Taylor always called her husband by that name.

The ex-champion grinned, held her at arm's length for a second and then with the faintest twinkle of a welled purple eye, said: "Honey, I forgot to duck."

To my way of thinking, his standing there and "taking it" in front of all the people in that hotel room even more indelibly inscribed Jack Dempsey as a truly great champion.

BEHEADED PERSON CONSCIOUS SHORT WHILE, IS CLAIM

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14. — There now is scientific evidence that a beheaded person's head may remain conscious for about five seconds.

It came out of a hitherto secret military investigation of the puzzles of blackouts among aviators and was presented for the first time to the Aero Medical Association of the United States here.

Blackout studies were reported from the Mayo clinic where doctors have been experimenting with a huge whirling machine called the human centrifuge.

The human centrifuge is a partly circular platform with a cage on top, to one edge of which is fitted a seat, surrounded by testing instruments. The seat swings freely, as in a whirling plane in an amusement park.

But speeds are so much greater that the person in the seat becomes "heavier and heavier" until, as his "weight" approaches half a ton, he blacks out. His extra weight is due to the centrifugal force. The weight in itself does no damage, but the force pulls the blood from the brain, resulting in greyout, blackout, unconsciousness.

When the blood starts to drain down under the tremendous pull, the person does not lose consciousness immediately. His mind remains clear from five to seven seconds, then suddenly, he becomes unconscious.

These few seconds were shown to be exactly the time it takes for much of the blood to leave the brain. This centrifuge draining is as fast or faster than in beheading.

Rules In Tires Sales

COLUMBUS, Sept. 14.—Tire retailers were ordered by OPA today to sell any new tires in stock to anyone presenting a valid rationing certificate for a tire and the money to buy it.

Dealers also were required to post daily inventories of tires with a cross-section size of 825 or larger. OPA officials said the action was taken to prevent some dealers from withholding tires to sell them to favored customers.

Until 1867, Alaska was designated on maps as Russian America.

Hero Battles 3 R's

VETERAN of 13 landings, including the Normandy invasion, Gerald Haddon, 15, of Boston, Mass., now has to take orders from the school teacher again—and doesn't like the idea. War Research Aids Postwar Happiness

NEW YORK—Wartime research at the direction of the Army Quartermaster Corps will be reflected in better postwar living with such improvements as pre-mixed cereals, waterproof matches and butter that won't melt except under high temperatures, a survey indicated today.

Reporting on what it said were only a few of the conveniences that will come out of war research, the September issue of

Click magazine listed insecticides sprayed from metal bombs that will destroy mosquitoes and other pests in a few seconds, cereals pre-mixed with sugar and milk and needing only water to make them palatable, and glassware that is unbreakable.

Other gadgets tested by the Quartermaster Corps which promise to become civilian aids include cotton pile jackets warmer than the warmest fur, midjet can-openers so small they may be worn on a watch chain, overcoats that shed water, pianos that weigh only 150 pounds and may be moved easily in an out of doors, and a powder that sterilizes dishes quickly.

The out-of-doors type will find useful a one-pound stove, incredibly sturdy that will burn for hours on a single filling of gasolene, or a waterproof sleeping bag that gives maximum warmth and protection and weighs only five pounds, 10 ounces.

Of all living animals, alligators and crocodiles have the smallest brains in proportion to their size.
